

American College of Cardiology INTERNATIONAL FELLOW-IN-TRAINING MEMBERSHIP

The American College of Cardiology (ACC) works with its international sister societies to support the training of physicians dedicated to the highest standards of cardiovascular care worldwide.

Cardiovascular trainees from countries with an ACC Chapter are eligible for complimentary membership for the duration of their training! Trainees will gain access to a variety of networking and educational benefits that will support them throughout their training.

Benefits of becoming an International Fellow in Training (FIT) include:

EDUCATIONAL RESOURCES

- Gain free online access to the Journals of the American College of Cardiology.
- Receive free, full access to CardioSource.org, the College's online learning portal filled with news, clinical information, guidelines and self-assessment tools.

DISCOUNTS

- Save on ACC educational programs and products including the ACC Annual Scientific Session

CAREER GROWTH AND LEADERSHIP

- Serve on the ACC International FIT working group. The committee works with ACC staff to expand the opportunities and benefits available to early career professionals through the ACC.
- Participate in ACC activities designed for cardiovascular trainees, including programming and networking opportunities for FITs during the Annual Scientific Session.
- Engage in collaborations with national cardiovascular societies around the world to host joint FIT activities throughout the year.

NETWORKING OPPORTUNITIES

- Access ACC's international FIT network of over 1,000 international FITs from 19 countries.
- Unlock unlimited networking opportunities with the ACC's over 43,000 cardiovascular professional members from around the globe.

www.CardioSource.org/International